

National Careers
Service®

The careers, skills and labour market expertise of the National Careers Service has never been so important in these unprecedented times and is here to support customers through COVID-19 and beyond.

The interests of our customers and communities is at the heart of what we do and our advisers are working hard to identify new opportunities as they arise to guide customers appropriately.

Your customers may be concerned about job security; need support with building their skills, employability and resilience to overcome short term challenges; or to consider what future opportunities may look like.

Whilst our face-to-face appointments are suspended, our local services are still accessible through telephone and digital. Please pick up the phone and book an appointment with one of our qualified careers advisers – we are here to support you and your customers through these challenging times.

To book a telephone appointment in Greater Manchester, Liverpool City Region, Cheshire & Warrington or Lancashire, call:
